DR. RICHMOND E. CALVIN SCHOLARSHIP Indiana University South Bend School of Education

Dr. Richmond E. Calvin was a professor at Indiana University South Bend for 30 years until his retirement in 2002. He taught at the undergraduate and graduate level in the School of Education focusing primarily on the areas of School Administration, Teacher Education, and Counseling and Human Services. This scholarship was established to serve as a lasting reflection of his commitment to the educators of the future.

Award Amount: $1000 per year ($500 per full-time semester) for tuition and required fees.

Eligibility: This scholarship will support Black/African American sophomore, junior, or senior students at Indiana University South Bend pursuing an undergraduate degree in education with the intention of pursuing a career in education. Students can first apply during the Spring of their freshman year for support starting the Fall semester of their sophomore year.

Award Criteria: Preference shall be given to full-time students. Students shall be selected for the award with primary consideration given to strong academic performance and secondary consideration given to financial need.

Application Process: Candidates must submit the following items by April 1:

1. A completed scholarship application (attached).
2. Submission of the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to U.S. Department of Education. Selection committee will access your Estimated Family Contribution (EFC) information through the Office of Financial Aid.
3. Transcript of college courses completed to date.
4. A 500 to 700 word essay discussing 1) your career goals and your motivations for pursuing a degree in education; 2) why you need the Dr. Richmond E. Calvin Scholarship and how it will help you reach your goals.

Scholarships will be announced by June 1st of each year and awarded the following Fall term.

Renewal Criteria: Students may reapply for up to two additional years depending on their status at the time of initial application. Applicants must formally request a renewal by submitting 1) a one page statement of personal and academic progress discussing your college experience and career goals and 2) current transcripts. Preference shall be given to existing recipients, providing progress toward an education degree is satisfactory.
